Art Unit: 2816

1. Claim 21 is objected to because of the following informalities: "claims" on line 1 should be singular. Appropriate correction is required.

2. Claims 19-21 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form.

Claims 19-21 do not further limit claim 1 and therefore should be canceled. Applicant should note that a claim depending from claim 1 must recite further structure or function about the notch compensator (not larger structures where the notch compensator is found).

3. The drawings are objected to because all black boxes in the figures need text labels. Also, it is not clear why several of the figures include dashed lines rather than solid lines. This should be explained or corrected by applicant. In addition, in Fig. 5, the designation of the outputs with reference numerals 60 and 62 is incorrect because these reference numerals are actually the prefilters of the invention.

Art Unit: 2816

(see Fig. 4). Finally, some of the figures are inconsistent with each other. For example, in Fig. 4 the prefilters 60 and 62 have two solid inputs, one dashed input and one output, whereas in Fig. 5 (which is supposed to show the details of the prefilters), the number of these inputs and output are not the same.

Corrected drawing sheets are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

4. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

The details of elements 36, 40, 50 and 54 in instant fig. 3 are needed, as are the details of elements 60, 62, 64 and 66 in instant Fig. 4. The same is true for elements 82, 86 and 88 in instant Fig. 5 and element 92 in instant Fig. 6. Because the specification and drawings fail to provide any details on how these features of the invention are to be implemented, those of ordinary skill cannot make and use the claimed invention.

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

Art Unit: 2816

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 10 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cox et al.

Note Fig. 4, where the recited "notch filter" reads on element 401; the recited "means for receiving an input of the notch filter" reads on the circuitry within element 403 which receives the input signal; the recited "means for receiving an output of the notch filter" reads on the circuitry within element 403 which receives the output signal; and the means for dynamically calculating a desired change and applying it to the notch filter reads on the remaining circuitry within element 403 in combination with circuit 405.

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 20 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cox et al.

Art Unit: 2816

The use of the notch compensator of Cox et al in any of the recited applications would have been obvious to those having ordinary skill in the art, the motivation being to obtain the advantages taught by Cox et al.

7. Claims 2-9 and 11-18 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Kenneth B. Wells whose telephone number is (571)272-1757. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Friday from 8:30am to 5:00pm.
